CHANGES THE LIVES OF CLEVELAND FAMILY
Cleveland-based Hinkley Lighting chosen for Exterior Lighting

Cleveland, Ohio – November 12, 2010 – ABC's Emmy award-winning hit show "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" recently changed the lives of the Cleveland-area Anderson family and the whole country can tune in on Sunday, December 5 at 8pm ET to watch their incredible story unfold. Each week, the show chooses a family in need, demolishes their existing home, then designs and builds a brand-new home during an intense weeklong effort.

A gorgeous 3,500 square-foot English Tudor-style home, with coordinating exterior lighting donated by Hinkley Lighting, was built in about seven days by an army of volunteers from the Cleveland area and designed by the talented team from "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition." The fixtures, from Hinkley Lighting's Madison collection, complement the classic elegance of the new home's architecture.

Hinkley Lighting was thrilled to be a part of this monumental opportunity to help a family facing difficult times right in their own backyard. "We are delighted that we were able to be involved with this inspirational project and make the lives of the Andersons a little brighter," said Rick Wiedemer, President of Hinkley Lighting. "To be able to help out a family in our hometown and make a difference in their lives is very rewarding."

Hinkley Lighting, a family-owned residential lighting manufacturer based in Cleveland since 1922, has been a leading manufacturer and distributor of high-quality lighting fixtures for over 85 years and is driven by a passion to create quality lighting products that enhance the homes and lifestyles of their customers.

The Emmy award winning reality program "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition", now entering its eighth season, is produced by Endemol USA, a division of Endemol Holding. Its executive producers are Brady Connell and George Verschoor. David Goldberg is chairman of Endemol North America. The show airs Sundays from 8-9pm ET on ABC.
