HINKLEY LIGHTING DEBUTS THE LISA McDENNON COLLECTION

The exclusive portfolio introduces a dramatic array of new fixtures

Cleveland, Ohio (December 4, 2017) – Hinkley Lighting will unveil its first exclusive collection with California-based designer Lisa McDennon at Lightovation, the largest lighting trade event in North America, January 17-21, 2018.

For almost 20 years, McDennon has used her eponymous Laguna Beach firm to bring her passion and expertise for art and architecture to the world of interior design. Now she has collaborated with Hinkley to create a lighting collection infused with both modern and organic elements for the company's luxury line, Fredrick Ramond. "The driving aesthetic is edgy and sculptural, drawing on what constantly inspires me as an artist and a designer," says McDennon. "I wanted to create a collection that complements the Hinkley brand while offering the impact of a new direction."

The debut of the Lisa McDennon Collection features four product families – LUDLOW, FOLIO, NULA and REN – meticulously crafted with unique personalities that highlight their bold and provocative shapes. "I really pushed the boundaries and focused on creating fresh designs with striking materials," says McDennon. Her new products will be presented in specially designed vignettes in the Hinkley Lighting Showroom at the Dallas Market Center, and the collection is a focal point of the new Fredrick Ramond catalog, which also debuts at Lightovation.

"We are constantly seeking out new ways to improve the home and lifestyle of consumers," says Rick Wiedemer, CEO of Hinkley Lighting. "As the demand for originality increases across every aspect of design, from fashion to interiors, it is critical that we consistently offer a fresh perspective and unique products. Hinkley is always looking forward, and that is why this is such a thrilling collaboration."

Lisa McDennon will be Hinkley's guest of honor at exclusive cocktail receptions on January 17 and 18 from 4-6 p.m. in Showroom 3210. The Lisa McDennon Collection will be available at select lighting showrooms nationwide and online starting in 2018.
